

Fibrowatt LLC Announces Presence on Three Social Networks

Fibrowatt LLC announces its presence on three social networks – Facebook, Twitter, and LinkedIn – and will use these online outlets to share company news and information.

After its success of launching “The Straight Poop” blog to answer questions and further community outreach, Fibrowatt recognizes the growing value of all social networks as information sources for many people. “As a project development company, we understand and appreciate the importance of sharing information on social networks,” said Kasia Wieronski, Fibrowatt's Public Relations Manager. “These social networks offer Fibrowatt another opportunity to communicate and connect with employees, investors, customers and others interested in the work we do.”

About Fibrowatt

Fibrowatt LLC was founded in 2000 by the same management team that built the world's first three poultry-litter fueled power plants in the United Kingdom in the 1990s. These plants, which were built in response to the poultry industry's need for a litter disposal alternative, generate homegrown renewable energy.
